DISCOVER THE DERWENT VALLEY LINE

Summer is the perfect time to travel by train in Derwent Valley. Whether you're a first-time train traveller or a long-time fan of our beautiful and historic line, Derwent Valley Line Community Rail Partnership would be delighted to see residents of Duffield getting the most out of the significantly improved train service for work and leisure this year.

The railway line has lots to offer the local community. Following a local campaign, we're celebrating the return of hourly trains throughout the day between Matlock, Derby and Nottingham from Monday to Saturday, and trains throughout the day on Sundays.

We're also celebrating the renewal of our Community Rail Partnership accreditation for 2023-24. This accreditation is given by the Department for Transport and reflects the value of the railway line to leisure, work and education opportunities, local economy and sustainability in Derwent Valley.

In May we congratulated Ambergate Station for placing second in the East Midlands category of the World Cup of Stations 2023, after being shortlisted by Rail Delivery Group from more than 100 nominations.

From the cover...

benefitted from funding from East Midlands Railway to install new 'self-watering' fence baskets. These will make it easier for the volunteers to maintain their floral displays, using less water in the process. At Duffield, these are located along the entrance path, after entering the station under the impressive archway - designed and constructed by a group of engineering students. We thank everyone who volunteers at stations along the line.

Finally, this year we have expanded our social media presence; you can now find us on Facebook, Instagram and Twitter. We post a mix of local updates, stunning Derwent Valley views and inspiration for getting the most from the railway. We work hard to keep our website up to date with local events, blog posts and information about the attractions our unique valley has to offer. Some attractions, including the Heights of Abraham, offer discounts for train travellers, so keep an eye on our website for information on this and much more: www.derwentvalleyline.org.uk

PLASTIC FREE: WE DID IT!

Yes, it's official!: Duffield has been awarded Plastic Free Community status.

And this is down to YOU: all the businesses that have become Plastic Free Champions, all the community organisations which have signed the plastic-free pledge, and all the people, adults and children, who have taken part in our Street Cleans and other events.

Thank you, and congratulations to Duffield!

You have made a great contribution, leading the change away from unnecessary single-use plastics, and joining a network of Plastic Free Communities across the UK.

It is vital that we stop plastic pollution at source to protect our environment, and so the work does not stop here. We need to bring on board more people, businesses and organisations in Duffield to strengthen the message of Plastic Free Communities.

If you would like to be involved, please get in touch: plasticfreeduffield@gmail.com or 07421994616.

Finally, thanks to Duffield Parish Council, which has supported us from the early days. Its new representative on Plastic Free Duffield's Steering Group, Cllr Louise Nelson, is seen here with Dave Wells presenting the Plastic Free Champion Award to Ryan North at The Kings Head.

BUGS, BUTTERFLIES & BIRDS ON THE MEADOW

In the early days of the reserve we had the benefit of a dedicated volunteer who was skilled at finding, identifying and photographing insects - Mick Ball - also known as the "bug man". Mick recorded well over a thousand different species and took pictures of many of them. Some of them will have already been there and some will have arrived due to the changes in habitat we generated by making the reserve. Some were rare finds for Derbyshire and some already indicated that creatures were gradually extended their ranges northwards as our climate warmed.

Since those early days there has been radical changes in the climate overall. Extreme events - whether rain, cold or droughts and heat all affect the ability of these smallest of creatures to survive. Consecutive heat wave spring and summers can mean a species has no time to recover and the reduced numbers mean fewer individuals the following year. If the trend continues the species is under threat of survival.

Have you seen many butterflies yet this year? In 2012 there were clouds of these beautiful insects on the reserve and walking along the paths there were tortoiseshells, peacocks, commas, speckled woods, whites of various sizes, orange tips and blues. Not so last year in the drought and sadly not so this year yet either.

We have the perfect habitats to suit the species mentioned. Many lay their eggs on nettles - hence the large nettle beds and path borders. The severe temperatures and dry weather jeopardises the food plants for many species and sometimes the caterpillars cannot find enough to complete their life cycle.

For instance Red Admirals rely on nettles for their caterpillars to eat. The butterflies appear in spring having migrated from Europe or North Africa and having laid their eggs on nettles, the next generation is usually on the wing from July onwards. The adults can stay around into the beginning of winter. They suffered a lot last spring/summer in the drought and the recent temperatures are having the same effect. The spiky black caterpillars of Peacock butterflies should be clustered on the nettles. So with the Tortoiseshell caterpillars but not much sign yet.

The main pond in the wetland will most certainly maintain some water as it goes up and down with the water table. By June this year at least one of the smaller ponds had dried up which will have had consequences for creatures that live in it. Surprisingly, tadpoles and efts (young newts) develop more quickly in warmer water and may well have fully changed into adults before the water disappeared. This will have denied the fish the opportunity to feed on them and thus the overall amphibian numbers may be healthy. However, warm water contains less oxygen and cold water fish will struggle in what becomes an increasingly anaerobic environment as the water temperatures rise and evaporates.

It is not all doom and gloom. The show of blossom earlier in the year will result in heavy cropping of fruit and nuts as long as the drought does not continue for too long. The flowers are spectacular and the skies above have iconic birds enjoying the insects that are borne aloft on the rising warm air currents - swifts, house martins and swallows.

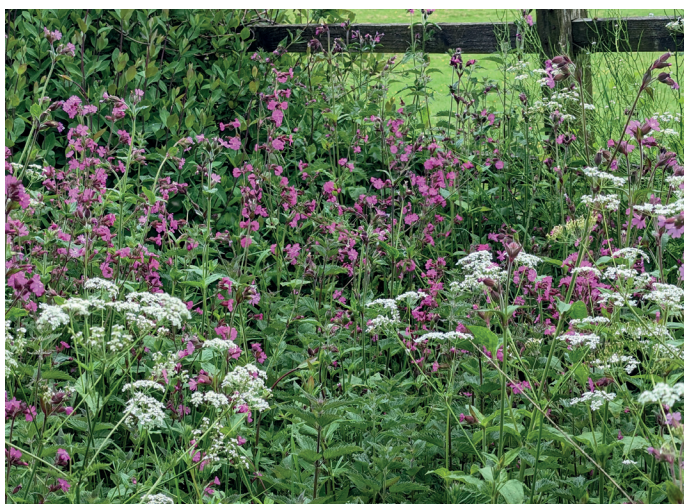

The twittering of swallows and screaming of the swifts is a sound I remember from childhood. This year we have about 20 swifts that have come back to nest in the village and raise the next generation along with house martins and swallows.

How does a swift catch insects on the wing? It has amazing flying abilities - swooping, jinking and diving in the air - with its large eyes able to see objects in fine detail up to three times farther away than people. Like most birds, a swift also has spectral sensitivity from near ultraviolet (UV) to red which is way beyond that of us humans. It declines to eat wasps and bees filling its crop of things like gnats, spiders, midges and mayflies stuck together with saliva to form a bolus (ball) which it can then regurgitate and feed to its young or swallow for itself. Swifts will avoid heavy rain if they can - often flying for hundreds of kilometres around storm systems to ensure its food sources. The question of how they navigate has not yet been fully answered - including how they find their previous nesting site in Duffield having flown from Africa!

On a summer's day those sorts of questions can spring to mind whilst sitting watching the river, observing the bees on the comfrey flowers, listening to the birdsong, catching a glimpse of the kingfisher or a spider spinning a web.

The peace and tranquility is precious and to be savoured.

LITTLE BOOK OF BALM FOR THE BROKEN SOUL

Little Book of Balm for the Broken Soul written by local debut author, Clare Francis-Slater. Illustrated by local award-winning artist, Lynne Hollingsworth.

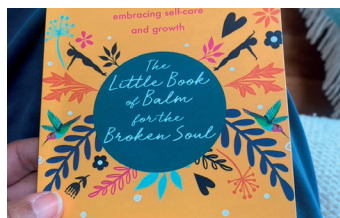

Clare wrote her 'Little Book of Balm for the Broken Soul' whilst recovering after having been diagnosed and treated for breast cancer in 2018. It was the kind of book she would have wanted to read to support her recovery and help her cope with the trauma she had experienced. It is a positive book that shows you ways you can help yourself to feel better at those low moments when it can sometimes seem too hard to carry on. Each chapter is a personal reflection and insight into what she did to help her repair, restore, and heal from trauma. We are all human, and, at times, we can all feel vulnerable and broken.

It deals with themes of mental health, well-being and post-traumatic growth; how we can support our own recovery with self-help, nature and our relationships. It also discusses issues of identity, race and belonging.

After Clare recovered from her cancer treatment, she went on an uplifting personal journey that helped her embrace her 'whole' self and take on new and exciting projects and challenges. Clare is also the founder of an educational consultancy organisation, 'Diversity Days Everyday'. The aim of the organisation is to support the embedding of diversity in schools, so that every child growing up in the UK can see themselves in their educational experience, feel valued, and understand how their story fits into the history of Britain.

The ideas in the book are applicable to anyone who is or has recently experienced any sort of trauma in their lives. Clare hopes that The Little Book of Balm will act as a beacon of hope, shining a light to guide you in the darkest of times. It is full of coping strategies, life lessons, gems of positive wisdom, eternal truths, helpful thoughts, and most of all... HOPE!

The Little Book of Balm for the Broken Soul is illustrated by Lynne Hollingsworth. She is a Duffield based award-winning artist and Clare's friend. They have collaborated closely on this project for a year and a half. Lynne consulted with Clare on all the illustrations for each chapter and the covers as she wanted to get the feel of the images right and for the colours to suit the book. Lynne also has a selection of gorgeous products available (cards, cushions, jewellery, posters) relating to the book and its images which are available through her new store 'House of Holl' – contact Lynne directly if you are interested in these (www.hdart.co.uk) and a donation will go to Derby Women's Centre from the sale of these items.

Clare Francis-Slater lives in Duffield with her family, husband, two children, dog, two cats, and chickens. She is a primary teacher, educational consultant, associate lecturer, and a writer. She has taught in various educational settings for over twenty years. She is now a freelancer.

They are both delighted with the book and feel very proud of what they have achieved together.

The Little Book of Balm is now available at Judy Clough's newsagents in the village, Amazon online, Waterstones online and other good local bookshops.

YOUR GREEN COUNCILLORS IN DUFFIELD

Your Green councillors have been working hard to prevent the closure of Belper Leisure Centre. Alison McDermott has been talking with the Labour leader of Amber Valley and she is optimistic that the leisure facilities will be saved. Gez Kinsella continues to explore ways of reducing the centre's high energy costs. Once all potential solutions have been explored, there will be a council meeting where members of the public can share their views.

Alison met with the eco committee at William Gilbert School (pictured) and discussed plans to develop an unloved area of the playground. She connected the group to Duffield Community Association who are keen to help to brighten up the area with planters to create a peaceful seating place. Alison arranged for Mick Hardwick to speak to the school about the 'Save our Swifts' campaign. Swifts need a NE to NW facing wall with a clear flight path so Alison helped pupils to look for suitable locations around the school.

Eva Long took part in a fascinating bat detecting walk in the village. She would strongly recommend it to residents, if it's repeated. Eva also joined scouts when they were 'Balsam Bashing' at Millennium Meadow to help conquer this invasive species. (pictured)

Our new Green parish councillors are already working hard. Louise Nelson is on the strategic development committee and environmental working group and is the parish representative for Plastic-free Duffield. David Walton is also on the environmental group and the outdoor management committee.

Sadly, the monthly community meal at Emmanuel church, where Alison has been a regular helper, may have served its last meal on June 15th unless someone can step in to help cook and run this valuable event. If you think you can help, please contact Claire on 07814066381

By the time you read this, Duffield Carnival will have happened. We hope to have met lots of you at the various events and had some good conversations at our stall.

Anti-social Behaviour

There has been a recent concerning upturn in the amount of anti-social and criminal behaviour taking place around the village, particularly at Eyes Meadow and Gray Recreation Ground, including fires being started resulting in the call-out of emergency services, damaged play equipment resulting in a closure of the play area, and recently-planted trees vandalized and destroyed. The Parish Council are taking steps to try to tackle this matter and you may have seen security patrols around the village recently. We will be arranging further patrols during school holidays to continue to monitor the situation.

We would urge anyone witnessing or coming across any ASB or criminal activity, either during or after it has taken place, to report it to the police – call 999 if an incident is still taking place or if there is immediate danger to life or property, or 101 (the non-emergency number) to report an incident. The behaviour can also be reported to Amber Valley Borough Council via their website. Please see the 'cut out and keep' guide for how to report ASB and criminal behaviour on the back page.

Village Floral Displays

The hanging baskets and planters were installed at the end of June and we look forward to a summer of beautiful floral displays around the village!

New Picnic Benches Installed at Gray Rec

Three new picnic tables have now been installed at Gray Rec which we hope will provide many years of enjoyment for all.

We have also installed a new metal bin at the Rec and one at Eyes Meadow to replace those that were destroyed by vandals some time ago in another instance of anti-social and criminal activity which resulted in significant unnecessary costs being incurred by the Parish Council. Now the bins have been replaced we hope everyone will dispose of their litter responsibly and if the bin is full please take your rubbish home. Thanks to all of our residents who already do this!

Cemetery Footpath Works

Please be aware if you are planning on visiting the Cemetery or allotments that work is being carried out in the week commencing 17th July to resurface the pathways around the Cemetery and particularly near to the Garden of Remembrance and Chapel. We apologise for any inconvenience caused during this time.

Duffield Community Speed Watch

The Speed Watch Team continue to meet regularly to help tackle speeding within the village. The team would benefit from the addition of another volunteer or two and so if you have the time to spare and may be interested in becoming involved in this valuable initiative, please contact the Clerk for more information.

Parish Council meetings are open to the public to attend to listen or address the Council on any Parish issues. Correspondence from Parishioners is also reported to the meetings.

Forthcoming meetings – The Outdoor Management and Development Committee meeting will be held on Wednesday 19th July at the Cemetery Lodge. Meetings begin at 7pm and all are welcome to attend.

ECCLESBOURNE MULTI-ACADEMY TRUST UPDATE

I promised to update Duffield Scene readers on developments in my campaign in Parliament to prevent Ecclesbourne School from being forced to join a multi-academy trust (MAT). The Department for Education wish to force Ecclesbourne to join a MAT, using the excuse of a poor Ofsted report as the trigger.

As I explained, I believe that joining a MAT should never be a choice imposed upon a school without its consent, because it is an irreversible step. There is no mechanism to get out of a MAT, and I believe that they are entirely undemocratic. The parents of Ecclesbourne pupils, and local people, would no longer have a say in the management and governance of the school, except with the consent of the MAT board, which could be situated in another county.

Whilst some schools may choose to join a MAT for entirely valid reasons, such as a desire to share staff, facilities or expertise with a nearby school with a similar academic focus, I have always campaigned for Ecclesbourne to retain its independence as it is a proudly local school, which has performed excellently for many years. This was the issue which took me into national politics in the first place, and I am determined to fight against any irreversible and detrimental steps being taken which threaten Ecclesbourne's independence.

Since my last article, I have met with several ministers in the Department for Education, including the Secretary of State Gillian Keegan, to raise my concerns. I set out the issues with the Ofsted inspection, and why I don't believe it is right for the Department to force Ecclesbourne into a MAT against its will.

I am pleased that following this meeting, the Department have confirmed that the school will not be forced into a MAT until the Ofsted inspection has been repeated. I know that the school has been working hard since the last inspection to address any of the concerns raised, and this subsequent inspection provides an opportunity for the school, and the Department, to make the right decisions for the future of Ecclesbourne and its pupils. I hope that the repeat inspection will demonstrate that Ecclesbourne is more than capable of making any necessary changes without being forced into an unsuitable MAT, and that this threat will then be removed once and for all.

LOCAL & INTERNATIONAL FOOTBALL TOURNAMENTS

By beating Inter Milan 1-0 Manchester City became the UEFA Champions League winners (and completed 'the treble') on the 10th June at the Atatürk Olympic stadium. Whilst there was an occasion for celebration in Istanbul that night, earlier in the day football was very much the focus of interest at the Eyes Meadow Sports Ground as the 2023 Football Festival weekend hosted by the Duffield Dynamos began. This was efficiently organised and well attended. Arrangements and resources were such that up to eight pitches were available. Particular mention must be given to the numerous marshalls who were adept in keeping the traffic moving at busy times and provided parking management. Both the FA and the tournaments' organisers upheld the notion that football should be a safe and enjoyable experience for everyone; the objective being to have fun whilst showing respect for people and property. Due acknowledgement was also made by the organisers to the numerous sponsors (many local) who made the events possible. Teams had travelled on Saturday from nearby clubs including Allestree, Little Eaton and Holbrook; fixtures were also arranged with visitors from greater distances including Ashbourne and Mickleover. The Saturday morning boys' matches resulted in success for the Dynamos: the under 10s team, 'Athletic' won the group shield, the 'Allstars' finished runners-up and cup winners in the same age group were the 'Rhinos'. In the afternoon the under 7s cup winners were the 'Mavericks', the 'Hawks' gained similar success in the under 9s cup competition and the shield winners in the under 11s age group were the 'Panthers', whilst the 'Jaguars' acquired runners-up accreditation, as did Duffield Dynamos Manchewin United in the under 12s age group. If considerable travelling distance is indicative of a desire to participate in tournament football, then there was notable enthusiasm shown on Sunday for the girls' contests; squads travelled from Melbourne, West Bridgford, Doveridge, Nottingham and Buxton to compete. Results were encouraging for two Duffield teams, both called 'Duffield Dynamo Girls' who achieved runners-up status in the cup competition for the under 8s and under 11s age groups. Regarding the afternoon fixtures, 'Honeybadgers' were runners-up in the under 10s cup competition and 'Wolves' won the shield for the under 13s. The boys and girls played competitive football in very warm weather and deserve credit just for doing that! Pauline Latham OBE, the Conservative MP for Mid Derbyshire, visited Eyes Meadow on the Sunday afternoon and was happy to convey her thoughts about women's football and the Duffield Dynamo football club.

PW - What are your impressions of the DDFC Football Festival?

PL - This is fantastic! There is a real family atmosphere and the girls are really committed to playing football. They are gaining life skills as well as developing as footballers.

PW - How do you think women's football will develop in the future?

PL - My son Oliver was a founder player for the Duffield Dynamos and there was just one boys' team. How things have changed! There is a real commitment from volunteers who, in my opinion, are the backbone of British society. I predict in years to come women's football will become more popular than men's football. Whatever happens, good or bad, women get on with the game and work well as a team.

With the Lionesses beginning their World Cup campaign on July 22nd in the oceanic regions of Australia and New Zealand, girls from the Duffield Dynamo Football Club have sent this message to the England Women's World Cup squad care of Fran Clarkson, the team's physiotherapist.

Good Luck Fran and the Lionesses

'We watched the Lionesses in a World Cup qualifier at Wembley and loved every minute of it, especially starting the Mexican wave. Wearing our England kits we want to score winners like Chloe Kelly. We want to do the "Russo" back heel. Our coach, Nick, found us some rainbow-coloured captain's armbands like Leah Williamson wears and now we are all desperate to be a captain. We will be watching the World Cup this summer and send our best wishes to Fran and the Lionesses.'

From the Duffield Dynamos:
Thank you to Pauline Latham for her interesting views and to everyone who made the Football Festival enjoyable and successful.
